Explanation (if any) :

Para 1: The ECB as a organisation of the Union is introduced in Article 14 b with this sentence in order to highlight its specific character.

The goal of price stability is too weak in the proposal if compared to the current Treaty provisions. Therefore this amendment takes over the provisions of Article 105 ECT.

Article 21 : ~~La Banque Centrale Européenne~~- Le système européen de banques centrales

1. La Banque Centrale Européenne et les banques centrales nationales forment le système européen de banques centrales. ~~Le système européen de banques centrales est dirigé par les organes de décision de la Banque Centrale européenne qui sont le Conseil des gouverneurs et le Directoire.~~ ~~dirige le système européen de banques centrales, dont elle fait partie avec les banques centrales nationales.~~

3. ~~La Banque~~ ~~Le système européen de banques centrales~~ définit et met en œuvre la politique monétaire de l'Union. ~~Elle est seule habilitée à autoriser l'émission de l'euro, monnaie de l'Union.~~ ~~Elle~~ Il conduit toute autre mission de banque centrale conformément aux dispositions de la Partie III de la Constitution.
4. ~~Elle~~ La Banque centrale européenne est seule habilitée à autoriser l'émission de billets en l'euro, monnaie de l'Union. ~~La Banque centrale européenne et les Banques centrales nationales peuvent émettre de tels billets.~~
4. 5 La Banque centrale européenne est dotée de la personnalité juridique. Dans l'exercice des missions du système européen de banques centrales, la Banque centrale européenne et les banques centrales nationales sont indépendantes, y compris pour leurs finances. ~~ses pouvoirs et dans ses finances, elle est indépendante.~~ Les institutions et organes de l'Union ainsi que les gouvernements des États membres s'engagent à respecter ce principe.
5. 6 La Banque centrale européenne adopte les mesures nécessaires à l'accomplissement de ses missions conformément aux dispositions des articles [A-B] de la Partie III de la Constitution et aux conditions fixées dans les statuts de la Banque centrale européenne et du système européen de banques centrales. Conformément à ces mêmes dispositions, les États membres qui n'ont pas adopté l'euro, ainsi que leurs banques centrales, conservent leurs compétences dans le domaine monétaire.
6. 7 Dans les domaines relevant de sa compétence, la Banque centrale européenne est consultée sur tout projet d'acte de l'Union, ainsi que sur tout projet de réglementation au niveau national, et peut soumettre des avis.
7. 8 Les organes de la Banque centrale européenne, leur composition et modalités du fonctionnement sont définis aux Articles X à Y de la Partie III, ainsi que dans le statut de la Banque centrale européenne et du système européen de banques centrales.

Explication éventuelle :

L'article 21 tel qu'il est proposé par le Presidium aboutit à un certain nombre de conséquences non souhaitables:

- un transfert de nouvelles compétences au niveau européen puisque toutes les tâches qui appartiennent aujourd'hui au SEBC (et donc aussi aux BCN), appartiendraient à l'avenir exclusivement à la BCE (p. ex. la détention et la gestion des réserves de change des Etats membres qui sortiraient du bilan des BCN);
- une centralisation totale du pôle monétaire (en vidant de facto le concept de "système de banques de centrales" de sa substance), ce qui aboutira à
- un déséquilibre plus grand encore qu'aujourd'hui entre le volet économique et le volet monétaire de l'UEM;
- priver le pôle monétaire de son ancrage de terrain, avec toutes les conséquences qui s'en suivent sur le plan de la légitimité, de la confiance du public (de la prise en compte des réalités du terrain).

Proposed Amendment

- (2) The primary objective of the Bank shall be to maintain price stability. Without prejudice to the objective of price stability, it shall support general economic policies in the Union with a view to contributing to the achievement of the Union's objectives.

The Bank shall act in accordance with the principle of an open market economy with free competition, favouring an efficient allocation of resources, and in compliance with the principles set out in Article [4 TEC].

Explanation:

The provision contained in Article 105 Paragraph 1, 3rd sentence TEC should be transferred into the Constitutional Treaty, too. The macro-economic principles currently contained in Article 4 Paragraph 3 TEC (price stability, sound public finances and monetary framework as well as a balance-of-payments which can be financed permanently) have to be inserted in an appropriate position.

Déposée par Monsieur Alain Lamassoure

Article 21 : La Banque Centrale Européenne

1. La Banque Centrale Européenne dirige le système européen de banques centrales, dont elle fait partie avec les banques centrales nationales.
 2. L'objectif principal de la Banque est de maintenir la stabilité des prix et le pouvoir d'achat de l'euro. Sans préjudice de l'objectif de stabilité des prix, elle apporte son soutien aux politiques économiques générales dans l'Union en vue de parvenir à un haut niveau de croissance et d'emploi et de contribuer à la réalisation des objectifs de l'Union.
 3. La Banque définit et met en œuvre la politique monétaire de l'Union. Elle est seule habilitée à autoriser l'émission de l'euro, monnaie de l'Union. Elle conduit toute autre mission de banque centrale conformément aux dispositions de la Partie II de la Constitution.
 4. La Banque est dotée de la personnalité juridique. Dans l'exercice de ses pouvoirs et dans ses finances, elle est indépendante. Les institutions et organes de l'Union ainsi que les gouvernements des États membres s'engagent à respecter ce principe.
 5. La Banque adopte les mesures nécessaires à l'accomplissement de ses missions conformément aux dispositions des articles [A-B] de la Partie II de la Constitution et aux conditions fixées dans les statuts de la Banque et du système européen de banques centrales. Conformément à ces mêmes dispositions, les États membres qui n'ont pas adopté l'euro, ainsi que leurs banques centrales, conservent leurs compétences dans le domaine monétaire.
 6. Dans les domaines relevant de sa compétence, la Banque est consultée sur tout projet d'acte de l'Union, ainsi que sur tout projet de réglementation au niveau national, et peut soumettre des avis.
 7. Les organes de la Banque, leur composition et modalités du fonctionnement sont définis aux Articles X à Y de la Partie II, ainsi que dans le statut de la Banque.

Explication : L'Europe est clairement menacée d'une sous-croissance chronique. A la lumière des premières années d'expérience de la politique monétaire commune, il paraît avisé de maintenir la stabilité des prix comme objectif premier de la Banque centrale, mais d'évoquer aussi le niveau de croissance et d'emploi. C'est sans doute un des sujets auxquels les citoyens seront le plus attentifs au moment des ratifications populaires de la Constitution.

Artikel 21: Die Europäische Zentralbank

(1) Die Europäische Zentralbank steht dem System der Europäischen Zentralbanken (ESZB) vor, dem sie zusammen mit den nationalen Zentralbanken angehört.

(2) ~~Vorrangiges Ziel der Bank ist es, die Preisstabilität zu gewährleisten. Unbeschadet des Ziels der Preisstabilität unterstützt die Bank die allgemeine Wirtschaftspolitik in der, um zur Verwirklichung der Ziele der Union beizutragen.~~

(2) Das vorrangige Ziel des ESZB ist gesamtwirtschaftliche Stabilität (Wachstum, Vollbeschäftigung, Preisstabilität und die Stabilität des Finanzsystems). Das ESZB unterstützt in Verfolgung dieses Ziels die allgemeine Wirtschafts-, Sozial- und Beschäftigungspolitik der Gemeinschaft und trägt so zur Verwirklichung der in Artikel 3 festgelegten Ziele der Gemeinschaft bei. Das ESZB handelt im Einklang mit den Grundsätzen einer offenen Marktwirtschaft mit freiem Wettbewerb und der sozialen Wohlfahrt, und fördert einen effizienten und nachhaltigen Einsatz der Ressourcen.

(3) Die Bank gestaltet und verwirklicht die Währungspolitik der Union. Sie hat das ausschließliche Recht, die Ausgabe des Euro, der Währung der Union, zu genehmigen. Sie erfüllt alle weiteren Aufgaben einer Zentralbank gemäß den Bestimmungen von Teil II der Verfassung.

(4) Die Bank besitzt Rechtspersönlichkeit. Sie ist in der Ausübung ihrer Befugnisse und ihren Finanzen unabhängig. Die Organe und Einrichtungen der Union sowie die Regierungen der Mitgliedstaaten verpflichten sich, diesen Grundsatz zu achten.

(5) Die Bank trifft die für die Erfüllung ihrer Aufgaben erforderlichen Maßnahmen gemäß den Artikeln [A-B] des Teils II der Verfassung und den in der Satzung der Bank und des Systems der Europäischen Zentralbanken festgelegten Bedingungen. Gemäß den genannten Bestimmungen behalten die Mitgliedstaaten, die den Euro nicht eingeführt haben, sowie deren Zentralbanken ihre Zuständigkeiten im Währungsbereich.

6) Die Bank wird in ihrem Zuständigkeitsbereich zu allen Vorschlägen für Rechtsakte der Union sowie zu allen Entwürfen für Rechtsvorschriften auf einzelstaatlicher Ebene gehört und kann Stellungnahmen abgeben.

(7) Die Organe der Bank, ihre Zusammensetzung und die Modalitäten ihrer Arbeitsweise sind in den Artikeln X bis Y des Teils II sowie in der Satzung der Bank festgelegt.

Explanation (if any) :

Zu Abs. (2): Die Geldpolitik des ESZB ist nicht Selbstzweck, sondern auf die Erreichung eines übergeordneten Ziels, nämlich der Erhaltung und Steigerung eines gerecht verteilten Wohlstands der EuropäerInnen, auszurichten. Die Wahrung der Preisstabilität kann hierbei einen Beitrag leisten, die alleinige Ausrichtung auf dieses Ziel greift jedoch zu kurz und lässt wesentliche ökonomische Wirkungszusammenhänge außer Acht.

Sinnvoll wäre daher das gleichberechtigte Nebeneinander geldpolitischer Ziele. Das wird durch den Verweis auf den neu gefassten Artikel 3 erreicht. Hinzu käme überdies die explizite Verantwortung für die Wahrung der Stabilität des Finanzsystems, da heute eine der größten Gefahren für die Entwicklung einer Volkswirtschaft – und damit für den Wohlstand der Menschen – in plötzlichen Turbulenzen auf den Finanzmärkten liegt, die schwere realwirtschaftliche Folgen haben können. Diese Verpflichtung des ESZB könnte auch Anknüpfungspunkt für Maßnahmen zur Besteuerung kurzfristiger Kapitaltransfers (Tobin Tax) sein.

Explanation:

Art.21 paragraph 2.:

“The Bank shall act in accordance with the principle of an open market economy with free competition.” This phrase is in the current Treaty (Art. 105 I) and it is important for UNICE that this principle is reinstated in the constitutional text.

Art.21 paragraph 4.:

- The wording “undertake to” weakens the wording of the article.
- “and not seek to influence the members of the decision-making bodies of the Bank” or of the national central banks in the performance of their tasks.” This wording can be found in the current article 108 I TEC and should also be introduced in the new article concerning the ECB to ensure its independence.

Article 21.3 In the case of coins, only the volume of issue and not the issue itself is approved by the ECB.
